

Corrigendum

Corrigendum to ‘A new tetra-segmented splipalmivirus with divided RdRP domains from Cryphonectria naterciae, a fungus found on chestnut and cork oak trees in Europe’ [Virus Research 291 (2021) 198221]

Yukiyo Sato<sup>a</sup>, Sabitree Shahi<sup>a</sup>, Paul Telengech<sup>a</sup>, Sakae Hisano<sup>a</sup>, Carolina Cornejo<sup>b</sup>, Daniel Rigling<sup>b</sup>, Hideki Kondo<sup>a</sup>, Nobuhiro Suzuki<sup>a,*</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Institute of Plant Science and Resources, Okayama University, Kurashiki, 710-0046, Japan

<sup>b</sup> Swiss Federal Research Institute WSL, Forest Health & Biotic Interactions, Zuercherstrasse 111, CH-8903 Birmensdorf

The authors regret that one of the panels was mistakenly used redundantly for “RNA2” and “RNA3” in Fig. 4. Corrected Fig. 4 is below. The authors would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused. Simultaneous detection of RNA1 to RNA4 of CnSpV1 in single conidial isolates.

See <<https://doi.org/10.1016/j.virusres.2021.198606>> for the figure legend.

DOI of original article: <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.virusres.2021.198606>.

* Corresponding author: Institute of Plant Science and Resources, Okayama University, Kurashiki, 710-0046, Japan
E-mail address: nsuzuki@okayama-u.ac.jp (N. Suzuki).

<https://doi.org/10.1016/j.virusres.2023.199228>

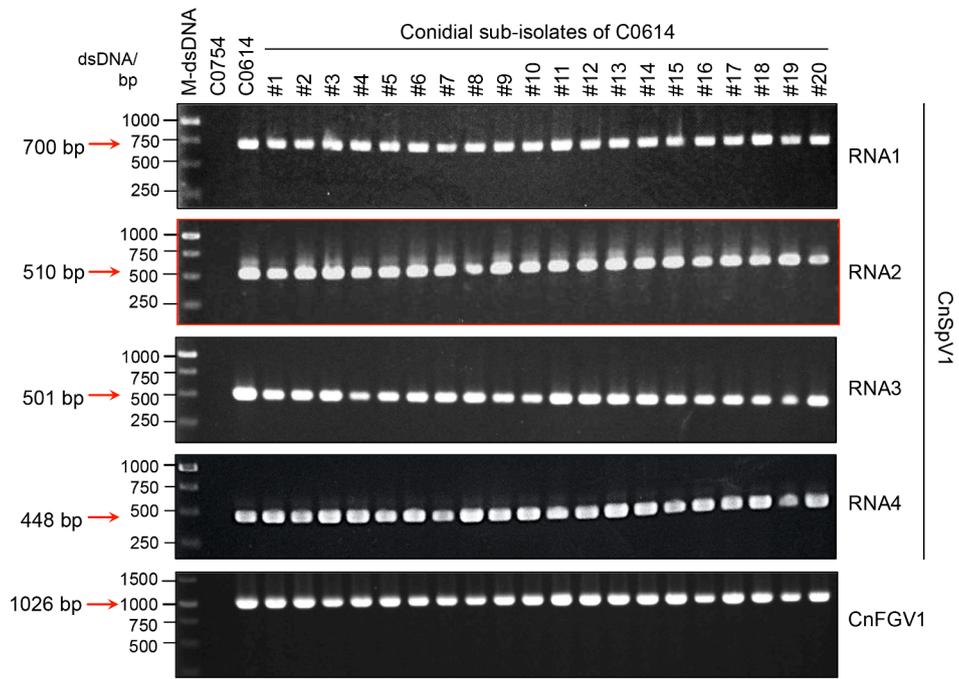

Fig. 4.